

Carbon plant considers Port Bienville for site

Supervisors approve option for sale

BY TRACI BONNEY

The Hancock County Board of Supervisors passed a resolution Monday giving Calgon Carbon Corp. an 18-month option for 98 acres of land at the Port Bienville Industrial Park and right of first refusal on an offsite facility for coal unloading.

Harold "Buz" Olsen, executive director of the Hancock County Port and Harbor Commission, said the company, which manufactures activated carbon, is in the process of choosing between the industrial park and another site in Alabama as the location for its first new plant in 30 years.

Calgon Carbon Corp. has six plants — four in Europe, one in Pittsburgh, Pa., and one in Catlettsburg, Ky. The new plant will be a $60 million project and will employ about 90 people when all three phases are complete.

"I should be informed of the company's site selection in one to three months," Olsen said. "Construction of the plant could begin as early as October."

The Port and Harbor Commission has worked with the company since fall of 1989, and has agreed to make improvements totalling $1.5 million at the industrial park.

In addition to addressing the board of supervisors about Calgon Carbon Corp., Olsen appealed to the board to donate $3,000 to cover a reduction in funds given by the Port and Harbor Commission in past years to the Mississippi Contract Procurement Center. The Center was established to assist Mississippi contractors and businessmen in finding out about and bidding on federal, state and local contracts.

The board decided to take the matter under advisement and give Olsen an answer at a later meeting.

Bay-Waveland school board changes valedictorian rules

BY TRACI BONNEY

The Bay St. Louis-Waveland School Board "cleaned house" at a Monday night meeting by changing several school board policies, including one concerning valedictorians and salutatorians.

The board accepted the resignations of high school science teacher Brenda S. Jackson, middle school teacher Deborah Moran and janitor Theresa Jenkins, approved recommendations to hire Joe M. Shaw as an assistant football coach/physical education teacher/driver's education teacher and Mary Proby as a preschool parent trainer/special education teacher, and accepted a single source supplier for an elementary school reading program.

The board then turned its energy to adding, deleting, correcting and changing policies that affect various areas of school life.

Some changes, such as lengthening the school year from 175 to 185 days, were mandated by state law. Other changes were made to correct typographical errors or omissions, to create some consistency between the district's policy book and five-year plan, or to better tailor a policy to the district's needs.

A policy that had sparked some concern among parents and others in the district dealt with the criteria for determination of Bay High School's valedictorian and salutatorian. The original policy stated that the students, in addition to having the highest academic averages in their graduating class, must have attended Bay High School four years.

Many felt this time requirement was too lengthy, and a proposal was made to shorten the required time of attendance to one year. The problem with that idea, contended board members, is that the class ranking and determination of valedictorian and salutatorian are made at the end of the first semester in the senior year. This would mean a student who had attended the school only one semester could be named valedictorian.

Board members agreed that two years was a sufficient time for attendance, and also changed the time of class ranking.

Number of programs assist pregnant teens

BY LIZ HAAS

Several programs have been established in Hancock County to decrease the large number of teenage pregnancies and to help teenagers who are pregnant or already have a child.

Janet Polozola, community education director at Hancock Medical Center, teaches parenting skills to expectant mothers. She also serves as executive director of the Hancock County Community Task Force, a United Way agency.

Established to address the problem of teen pregnancies, the task force soon noted many contributing factors. Lack of education, family unity and positive role models in the home, school and community, and lack of structured recreation were recurring problems.

The end result was for the task force to work on the school curriculum.

In a "safe sex" talk given to Bay Senior High School seventh and eighth graders in April of this year, teachers discovered the students had many misconceptions about sex and pregnancy. Many of them falsely believed oral sex was safe sex, with disregard to the transmission of diseases.

The school called Polozola to talk to the students.

Polozola talked to the students about self-esteem, something she said they were lacking. She found that many of the

Breaking the cycle: One teenager's story

BY LIZ HAAS

If you are scared to talk to your daughter about sex and sexuality, imagine how your daughter would feel having to tell you she is pregnant.

This is Stephanie's (not her real name) story. Stephanie was 17 and a senior in high school when she encountered her first sexual experience. She had been dating Ron for several months before they had sex.

"I was really scared. I didn't really want to do it and I don't know why I did. Maybe I thought it would keep us together. I don't know," she said.

Peterson: Shooting probably suicide

BY TRACI BONNEY

The Hancock County Sheriff's Department has made a preliminary ruling of suicide in the July 21 shooting death of a Kiln area resident.

Sheriff Ronnie Peterson said the department received a call on the 911 emergency line around 8:40 p.m. that Saturday from Sherri Ladner, 28, of 17356 Carnation Street in the Silver Creek area. She stated that her husband, Barry L. Ladner, 25, had shot himself.

Peterson said Mrs. Ladner told officials that after leaving a wedding reception at the county fairgrounds around 4:30 p.m., Ladner allegedly hit her and gave her black eye.

When they arrived at their home, she said, she went into the bedroom to change clothes, then went into the bathroom.

When she came out, she continued, Ladner pulled a .38 caliber gun out of a dresser drawer, put it to his head and shot himself.

Peterson said Ladner was taken to Hancock Medical Center, then transferred to Gulfport Memorial, where he died Monday afternoon after being pronounced brain dead.

Peterson said the bullet entered above Ladner's left eyebrow and didn't leave his skull.

He added that forensic pathologist Dr. Paul McCrary performed an autopsy Tuesday and found that preliminary indications are that the wound was self-inflicted. However, the sheriff's department is keeping the investigation open pending information from the FBI Crime Lab in Washington, D.C. on a test conducted during the autopsy to determine if there is any trace of gunpowder on Ladner's hand.

Peterson said the presence of gunpowder on Ladner's hand would be proof that the gunshot wound was self-inflicted.

Sheriff: Drowning judged an accident

The Saturday drowning death of John Joseph Hicks, 25, of Waveland was judged to be accidental, said Hancock County Sheriff Ronnie Peterson.

Hicks' body was found Sunday around 1:15 p.m. after dragging and diving operations Saturday had proved to be in vain. Work to find Hicks, who had not resurfaced after a dive off the Bayou LaCroix bridge, resumed Sunday at 7 a.m.

Peterson said it was not certain whether Hicks had dived or jumped off the bridge.

Although results from the drug and alcohol screen taken during the autopsy were not available yet, Peterson said there were indications Hicks had been drinking.

"It's obvious by talking to witnesses that there was alcohol involved," he added.

The Bureau of Marine Resources, the Gulfport Fire Department dive team and several volunteers assisted the Hancock County Sheriff's Department in the search.

Hanging ruled suicide

The hanging death of a local teenager has been ruled suicide, according to Hancock County Sheriff Ronnie Peterson.

Scottie Preston Lewis, 14, of Bay St. Louis was found around 6 p.m. Friday by his sister, Colleen Lewis.

Although no note was found, Peterson said, there also was no indication of foul play.

KILLING TIME

By Traci Bonney

The more things change . . .

It's funny how things change as we age, isn't it?

I can remember when, not too many years ago, my mother asked at least three times a week how my brothers and I could study with the radio playing. We'd just shrug and say, "It's no big deal."

In fact, noises in general had no effect on my work. Now, I can't seem to concentrate on what I'm doing when the surrounding area is noisy, or when there's a conversation going on nearby.

Radios still don't bother me, though.

Another change I've noticed in myself concerns my need to get out of the house—or rather, my lack of that need.

Once upon a time, I went stir-crazy if I had to stay at home more than two or three hours in a day. Now, I get crazy if someone tries to coax me into going out when I'd rather stay home and cross stitch or something.

Don't get me wrong; I'm not a hermit. However, I'm also not a social butterfly.

I just find it amusing that when I desperately wanted to be invited out I never was, and now that I have come to cherish quiet time at home I don't get enough of it.

I've also noticed that years seem shorter than they used to. I can't believe it's almost August!

I guess the older you get, the more things you find yourself doing and the faster the year goes. When we didn't need so much time between January and Christmas we had it, and now that we need it we don't have it.

Some of the changes I've noticed seem to be for the better. When things don't go my way now, I'm less likely to throw a temper tantrum—although I still am tempted to on occasion.

Oh, I still pout and mope sometimes, and I did fly into a rage one night not too long ago and scream at the walls of my house—and of all the silly things to get upset about, I was going hysterical over a missing can of bug spray!

I'm glad no one else was there that night. That could have been embarrassing.

I also know less than I once did. You see, when I was a teenager I knew everything. Now the biggest thing I know is that there's a lot I don't know.

I also am finding that I don't worry as much as I used to about what people think of me. If I did, I wouldn't dance in church (come by Harvest Time on Kiln-DeLisle Road some Sunday morning if you don't believe me) and I certainly wouldn't be writing all these silly things about myself for everyone in Hancock County to read!

ST. ANN CHURCH NEWS

A thought for meditation from our pastor Father Justin Furman, ST.

It takes a lifetime to learn how to live,

How to share and how to give.

How to face tragedy that comes your way,

How to find courage to face each new day.

How to smile when your heart is sore,

How to go on when you can take no more.

How to laugh when you want to cry,

How to be brave when you say goodbye.

How to love when your loss is so great.

How to forgive when your urge is to hate.

How to be sure that God's really there,

How to find Him, seek Him in prayer.

The reason you may have seen an exceptional number of recreational vehicles in the area this week is because of the Telephone Pioneers Family Campers' annual meeting at Buccaneer State Park in Waveland.

This has to be the most recreational vehicles ever gathered at one time in one place in Hancock County's history.

The convention is sponsored by the Magnolia Bells, the Mississippi branch of the Telephone Pioneers.

We are lucky to have Buccaneer State Park in our area as it is the only campground in the state of Mississippi large enough to hold such a gathering.

Many of the area's merchants will benefit directly and indirectly from the Telephone Campers being in the area.

We hope that every camper will have a good experience in Hancock County and will return to the area in years to come.

Several catches of speckled trout have been recorded in recent weeks. It seems the trout were very late coming in this year.

My brother Raymond caught a nice mess of trout Saturday morning and cooked several over his grill "German style" Sunday.

I have eaten fish cooked many ways, but marinated trout cooked over a grill is the most delicious way I have ever eaten them.

My mouth waters just thinking about how delicious they are.

Since the trout seem to be biting, I will have to try to get on some fishing.

The filming of the movie The Brotherhood in Bay St. Louis this week has created some excitement.

Just think, it has been 25 years since This Property is Condemned, was filmed in the area around the old railroad depot.

I cannot recall seeing as many motorcycles in the Bay as they are using in scenes for the latest movie.

Several local residents are being used for parts in the movie.

I am sure folks will be waiting for the release of the movie featuring Brian Boswell.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Laws should be based on Constitution, will of people

Dear Editor:

Somewhere in the U.S. Constitution is a guarantee of religious freedom.

Somewhere in the U.S. Constitution is a guarantee of a government "of, by and for the people."

Yet, at some time in this century, elected officials from Supreme Court Justices down to local bodies have seen fit to change our founding fathers' guarantees.

These men and women feel they can vote their own convictions, not the will of the people.

They've brought religious fundamentalism to the halls of Congress and State Legislatures; in effect they're replacing religious freedom with "the Bible says it's so." That is not our heritage, that is not what America is all about!

Whether a bill is about abortion or gambling or guns or spitting on the sidewalk, laws must be based on the Constitution, Bill of Rights and will of the people—peer pressure, not preacher pressure.

Before the fall elections, we should ask those seeking office, "What say ye?" on all pertinent issues.

With honest answers, perhaps our heritage and America can be saved from decay, greater deficits or worse.

Regards,
Royce P. Kaupp

EYES ON MISSISSIPPI

By Bill Minor

Democrats may look at Cuomo as candidate

Many Democrats were saying in hindsight after their 1988 presidential disaster that their best candidate didn't even run for the nomination. They were referring to New York Gov. Mario Cuomo.

Now there's a new flurry of hope among Democrats that a "Mario scenario" is developing. It holds that Cuomo will not only declare himself for the presidential nomination in 1992 but will sweep other Democratic hopefuls out of the way, then go on to send George Bush back to Texas, or wherever he lives.

Until Cuomo recently started sounding more like a candidate, the Democrats seemed almost willing to concede Bush another four years in 1992.

But now with Bush being pushed on the defensive by the savings and loan crisis and his acquiescence on tax hikes, more and more Democrats see Bush as beatable. And there's even talk of a dream ticket of Cuomo and Nebraska Sen. Bob Kerry, the Congressional Medal of Honor winner, who lost part of a leg in Vietnam.

The Cuomo scenario is certainly not going unnoticed in Mississippi. One who is following it closely is Dr. Robert McElvaine, history professor at Millsaps College, who two years ago brought out a biography of the New York governor.

McElvaine, who stays in touch with Cuomo on a regular basis, says that the governor has clearly changed his stance from two years ago when he was discouraging presidential talk. "Now, he seems to be encouraging the speculation," the Millsaps professor said.

Cuomo is an odds-on favorite to win re-election to a third term in the New York governorship in November. But this time, McElvaine points out, Cuomo has not made a promise to serve out a full term as he had four years ago.

Cuomo's stirring keynote address at the 1984 Democratic convention in San Francisco is still ringing in the memory of many Americans and Mississippians. As a testament of Cuomo's rhetorical ability, says McElvaine, "the San Francisco speech was just run of the mill. He can do that all the time."

The Millsaps professor believes that if Cuomo had been on the ticket instead of Michael Dukakis in 1988, he could have beaten Bush.

"I don't think Bush was elected. His media consultants had to turn Dukakis into the issue, which they did very skillfully. I don't think they could have done that with Cuomo," McElvaine said.

Cuomo felt that 1988 was a "bad time to run," McElvaine says, "because he felt that the one elected would be like a Herbert Hoover coming after Calvin Coolidge." Of course, it is remembered that Herbert Hoover was a one-term president.

With Cuomo's golden speaking ability, McElvaine believes the New York governor could make Bush very vulnerable on the S & L debacle, as well as Bush's stance against highest income persons having to pay a higher rate of tax.

"And when people hear Cuomo talk about family values—as Bush did in 1988—they will see Cuomo is about as far from a Dukakis as you can get," McElvaine said.

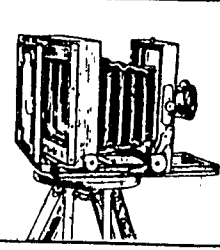

His ability to come across as "a very sincere person interested in family values" would give Cuomo good rapport with voters in the South, the Millsaps historian related. "I don't think it would be like trying to sell another liberal governor from the Northeast to the South."

State Democratic Chairman Ed Cole agrees that Cuomo would be surprisingly saleable in Mississippi. "We've had plain old everyday people from Northeast Mississippi and from around Meridian to call in wanting to know when Cuomo is coming to the state," Cole said.

The chance for Mississippians to meet Cuomo is expected to come this fall. McElvaine has a commitment from Cuomo to come to Millsaps to make a speech after the election, in late November or December.

While the New York governor is here, Cole says the state Democratic Party will cash in on having a statewide fundraising reception with Cuomo as the chief attraction.

Before long, the question may be: "Will the Mario scenario play in Mississippi?"

—The New York Limited train, No. 38, leaving New Orleans at 9:35 o'clock p.m. and reaching Bay St. Louis at 11 o'clock, was "held up" last night at a point between the North Eastern Railroad Crossing and Gentilly Station. The train's flagman, of Ocean Springs, who was the only support of a widowed mother, was shot by one of the two robbers and died a half-hour later. One of the robbers "pulled the cord" and as a porter entered the car to see what had caused the train's delay he was fired upon, but missed. The flagman appeared doubtless in quest of the same information, when he was shot in the abdomen. One of the robbers threw a gun in the conductor's face and then proceeded to go through his pockets, getting $16.75. A representative of the New Orleans Transfer Company was also relieved of $3.50 at pistol's point. The robbers then fled. A physician on board the train at the time of the shooting removed the bullet and dressed the wound. The train was one hour late reaching Bay St. Louis. Passengers were excited. One lady, whose fingers were almost covered with diamonds, congratulated herself on her escape. She said one of the robbers sat next to her, traveling from New Orleans to the place of the holdup.

WASHINGTON REPORT

By Senator Thad Cochran

Cochran proposals to increase funds for vocational education

A House-Senate conference committee has approved proposals advanced by U.S. Senator Thad Cochran that will increase vocational education funding for the state of Mississippi.

The Cochran proposals were included in a $1.6 billion bill to reauthorize the Carl D. Perkins Vocational Education Act. The Mississippi senator's proposals will target funding to states with high numbers of disadvantaged students and provide federal support for the new "Tech-Prep" program.

"Approval of this legislation represents a strong federal commitment to having a world class workforce that will make our country competitive in the years ahead," said Cochran, a member of the Senate Education Subcommittee.

Mississippi stands to gain $4 million additional funding under the "supplemental Grants for Areas of Greatest Need" program, he said.

Cochran also succeeded in gaining approval of the "Tech-Prep" education program, which encourages links between high school and community college courses in math and science for a better coordinated technology curriculum.

"This program will increase the level of competence and skill of graduates and enable them to obtain the high-technology jobs that are becoming available in our state," Cochran said.

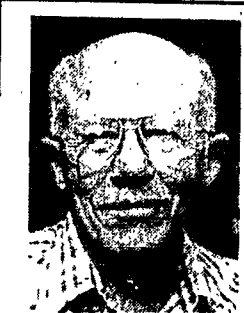

Both the Senate and House must now approve the conference action so the bill can be submitted to the President.

Bosworth, bikers draw crowd in Bay

Hundreds of bikers have congregated around the American Legion Pier in Bay St. Louis as filming of the movie "The Brotherhood" continues. Starring Brian Bosworth and

Bill Forsythe, the cast includes approximately 300 (genuine) bikers from along the Gulf Coast and other areas.

Bikers from Kiln, Bay St. Louis and other Coast cities were on the set Wednesday. Bay St. Louis residents will also appear driving down the street.

The crew has already filmed parts of the movie in Ocean Springs and Mobile and plans to be in Bay St. Louis until Friday, according to publicist Randall Barton, who has been with the crew since last Thursday. They plan to do all their filming in the South.

Shooting in Bay St. Louis was postponed when director Craig Baxley replaced Bruce Malmuth.

Earlier in the week, the crew was filmed a rally the fictitious gang, the Brotherhood, attended. The shoot included a motorcycle race between Bosworth and Forsythe.

The movie is a drama about an undercover FBI agent, played by Bosworth, who infiltrates a motorcycle gang. While in the gang, he discovers a plot to assassinate a political figure.

According to Barton, the movie will be released in January or February of 1991 through Tri-Star.

students do not have high opinions of themselves.

She talked about sexually transmitted diseases, but focused on abstinence. She said, "If they are going to continue having sex, which we discovered many of them are doing, it may deter them to know they may be permanently ill or even die by contracting a sexually transmitted disease."

"This is a large problem because some young girls have sex with two, three or even five different partners in one day," said Polozola.

"One 16-year-old girl reported to us she has had over 150 different sexual partners. The Hancock County Health Department is working with her now," said Polozola.

She does not teach the students about birth control, instead she refers that to the health department.

Bay High School is planning a staff development seminar which will teach the teachers how to spot at-risk children before a problem breaks out in order to help that child.

Polozola started a youth education program in the Hancock County Youth Court where she works with young girls to teach them basic things they should have learned from their parents.

The task force designed a free monthly pamphlet, "Pierre the Pelican", that is offered to expecting mothers and parents. It describes pre-natal care and baby care until the child is one-year-old.

The pamphlet is then sent on a quarterly basis until the child is six-years-old. For additional information, call JoAnne Lagasse at the Retired Senior Volunteer Program office, 467-9204 or Janet Polozola at the hospital.

In June of this year, the Bay-Waveland Crisis Pregnancy Center opened. It is a Christian-based service that helps needy pregnant women find a home, maternity and baby clothes and food. They also give counseling and emotional support to women.

Polozola will be teaching a childbirth program there this year.

"I didn't know what I was doing. My parents never talked to me about sex and I never paid attention during our family class in school," said Stephanie.

Stephanie said she felt guilty for a few months after but she continued to have sex with Ron.

"Once you give yourself to a guy it's like they have control over you. You'll do anything to keep him," she said.

Several months after their initial encounter, Stephanie found out she was pregnant.

"We never used birth control. We talked about it but just kept putting it off. I knew one day I'd get pregnant but I always imagined that would come later, after we were married," she said.

"The worst part about the whole situation was telling my parents," she recalled.

Her father was compassionate from the beginning but her mom took a few weeks to accept the nightmare most mothers worry about.

Stephanie knew from the beginning she wanted to keep the baby.

"I never considered giving it up for adoption or having an abortion. There's always some way to deal with it other than abortion," said Stephanie.

Stephanie dropped out of school in her senior year and married Ron.

"I should've stayed in school because I had so much time on my hands, I didn't know what to do. I spent all day cleaning the house and making him dinner. I did everything to please him," she said.

"Ron and I were constantly fighting. He didn't understand what I was going through. I left him and stayed by myself until the baby was born," said Stephanie.

"The hardest part was all the stress I experienced during my pregnancy—not only from the pregnancy itself, but from being alone and finding out everything Ron was doing. He was cheating on me and that caused me even more pain. All I did was cry," she said.

Stephanie had a healthy baby boy, and she and Ron got back together.

"Having a baby doesn't make anything better, it only adds to the problems. When you're married and you add a baby to that it's only that much harder. You have to try to stay together because it's no longer the problems of two people, you have to consider the child," she said.

"I honestly believe if my parents would've disciplined me more, this wouldn't have happened to me as quickly as it did," she said.

"They were great parents but they didn't believe in strict discipline. I could do just about anything I wanted to and at that age, you can't give children that much freedom because they don't know how to handle it. They're not responsible enough and need a role model to help make their decisions for them," she said.

"I am definitely going to handle my child differently. I am going to discipline and talk to my child about sex because I don't want this to happen to him," Stephanie said.

Mississippi leads United States in teen birth rate

BY LIZ HAAS

Mississippians are accustomed to reading statistics where their home state is close to the bottom—education, per capita income and so on.

Now the state has surfaced at the top of a list—teen birth rates.

Mississippi teenaged women between the ages of 15 and 19 had the highest birth rates in the United States, according to public health statistics researched by the Mississippi State Department of Health.

In a 1985 survey, Mississippi ranked 45 in the United States for abortion rates among teenagers.

In 1988, Hancock County teenagers had 96 births, six abortions and no fetal deaths reported. The teen pregnancy rate is 46.43.

In 1987, the public cost of teen childbearing in the United States was $19.3 billion. This includes AFDC, Medicaid and food stamps. The cost in Mississippi was $126 million.

According to the State Department of Health's research, nearly one-third or 2,697 of the live births to Mississippi teens in 1988 were to teens who had already had at least one previous pregnancy.

In 1988, Mississippi teen mothers were 60 percent more likely to have babies die during the first year of life than adult mothers.

The survey concluded one-fifth of all newborns in Mississippi are born to teens and are:

- More likely to be born to unmarried females
- Less likely to get prenatal care before the second trimester
- At higher risk of low-birthweight

- More likely to receive public assistance
- At greater risk for abuse and neglect and
- More likely themselves to become teen parents.

Most authorities on the subject of preventing teen pregnancies conclude the most effective interventions are:

- Health education with emphasis on postponing sexual activity
- Teaching sexually active teens to practice effective contraception and
- Providing convenient access to high quality contraceptive services for sexually active teens

The recommendations to providing services to those teens who do become pregnant are:

- Convenient access to quality prenatal care services
- Increased family planning efforts to prevent second births during teen years
- Job training to break the dependency on public assistance programs and
- Day care programs to enable teen parents to complete education and/or work

Alton B. Cobb, M.D., M.P.H., of the State Health Department wrote, "The reduction of teen births is a critical public health goal for Mississippi. The single-year costs for teen childbearing in Mississippi alone exceed the annual budget for the State Department of Health."

"To reach this goal, we must increase our public understanding of this complicated social problem and develop a commitment for support of educational efforts."

"We must provide social and health services to achieve changes in values and behavior of our youth so they can protect themselves against sexually transmitted diseases and unwanted pregnancies."

ing to the end of the third nine weeks of the school year.

Gary Yarbrough asked that a provision be included to state that only students in the college preparatory curriculum would be eligible for consideration, but other board members pointed out that the quality point system of ranking grades effectively covered that contingency.

The two-year attendance requirement for valedictorians and salutatorians will start with the graduating class of 1994.

The board also approved a policy change that gives substitute teachers a pay rate of $20 per day for the first five consecutive days in the same classroom, $25 per day for days five through 20 and $30 per day for each day more than 20 consecutive days spent in the same classroom.

In a related matter, Superintendent Robert Magee informed the board that testing for substitute teachers and teacher assistants will be held July 31 at 8:15 a.m. in the Bay High School library.

All-Star 11-12's advance to state

The Bay St. Louis Little League 11-12 All Star baseball team won the district championship with a convincing 11-4 pounding of Biloxi at the little league field on July 20.

Leading the offensive attack with two hits each were Bo Green, Wali Shabazz, Casey Heitzmann, and M.J. Krankey.

In winning the South District Area C tournament, the All-Stars qualify for the state playoffs which begin July 30 at a site still to be determined.

Bay St. Louis was the visiting team in the championship game, and scored two runs in the top of the first inning as Green, Shabazz, Jonathan Favre, and Casey Heitzmann all hit singles.

Biloxi countered with a lone run in the bottom of the first as losing pitcher Rashawn Booth hit a home run. The 2-1 deficit would be as close as Biloxi would get, as Bay St. Louis scored two runs in the top of the second, and then exploded for six runs in the top of the third.

Enjoying a 10-3 lead after three innings, Bay St. Louis cruised through the rest of the contest. Coach Tim Bourgeois replaced winning pitcher Luke Weems with Casey Heitzmann.

Bay High athletic boosters to meet Tuesday

The Bay High Athletic Club has announced its next meeting for general membership will be held on Tuesday, July 31 at 7 p.m.

The membership drive, including the sale of season tickets, has generated a lot of community interest, according to spokesman J. E. Loiacano.

A membership in the club allows a person (or family) admission into all Bay High athletic events such as football, basketball, baseball, soccer, and volleyball games. All athletic events except tournaments and playoff games are included.

Adult membership is $20 per person, or $30 per couple. Student memberships are $10, while a $50 family membership allows both parents and all children to attend an athletic event.

"We see this as a real bargain, especially for a big family," said Coco Loiacano, treasurer.

"We will also include special gate prizes in the football program in which businesses will give away valuable coupons for food and other services.

"Presently we have a paid membership of almost 40 people, and hope to nearly double that soon."

Any person or business interested in becoming a member should contact Gary Yarborough at 467-9436 or J.E. Loiacano at 467-0594.

Physicals slated for Bay High players

All Bay High football players in grades 7-12 must report to the multi-purpose room at Bay Senior High School Thursday, July 26 at 5:30 p.m. for team physicals.

The physicals are mandatory for participation in the school football program, according to head coach Rocky Gaudin.

The following Monday, July 30, players are to report to the school to be issued football equipment and to be assigned lockers. All parental consent forms must be in order.

Football practice will officially begin Monday, August 6 at 8:30 a.m. Players should meet at the gymnasium at 8 a.m. to prepare for practice.

Hancock public hearing slated on live-bait trawling Monday

The Bureau of Marine Resources will sponsor a series of public meetings to discuss proposed changes in live-bait ordinances including a proposal that would relax the criteria for opening the coastal bays to live-bait trawling.

The local meeting will begin at 7 p.m. Monday, July 30 at the Hancock County Courthouse in Bay St. Louis. Subsequent meetings will be held in Biloxi and Gautier.

Tom Van Devender, BMR chief of saltwater fisheries, said one of the proposals to be discussed would allow for the opening of the upper bays if sample trawls show that 50 percent of the bay shrimp population counts 120 to the pound or larger.

Under the present ordinance, the bays cannot be opened until 75 percent of the shrimp populations is 120 count or larger.

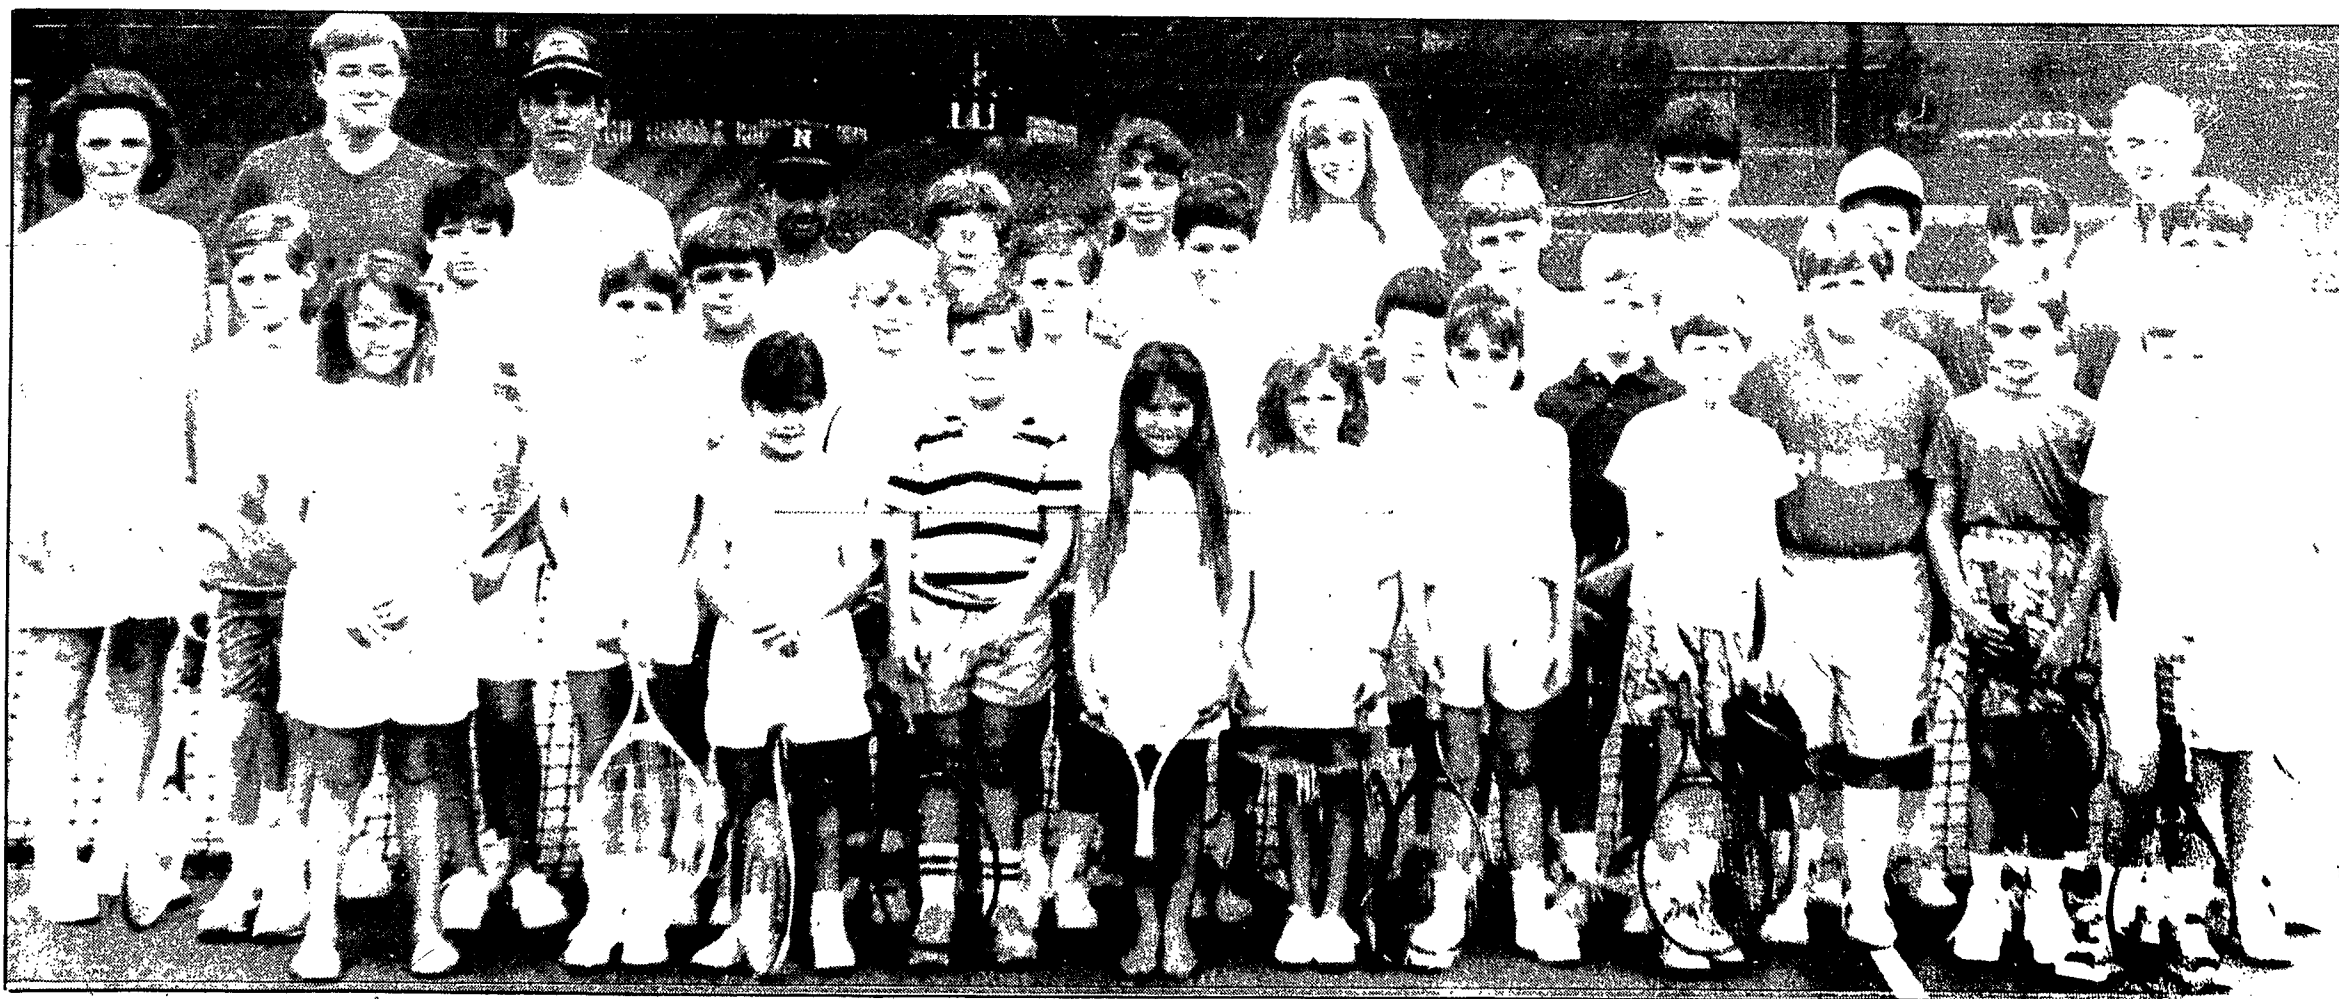

Van Devender said the present ordinance is not realistic. "It's just not working," he said. "Last year the live-baiters were allowed to fish in the bays only six days."

However, both the Back Bay of Biloxi and the Bay of St. Louis were opened to live-baiting earlier this month, when samples showed that the 75 percent criterion was met.

Other proposed changes to be discussed at the public hearing include changing the BMR's policy that requires sample shrimp trawls to be taken using a net without a lining.

The present policy requires BMR sample trawls to be taken with a 1/4-inch mesh trawl with a 1/4-inch mesh bag to catch smaller shrimp and finfish so biologists could see which species of marine life are passing through live-bait nets as well as being caught by them.

Babe Ruth All-Stars drop close games

The Bay St. Louis Babe Ruth All-Star team held two close ballgames in a tournament held at Orange Grove.

July 11, The Bay St. Louis team led 9-8 but committed an error and could not hold onto the lead to capture the victory.

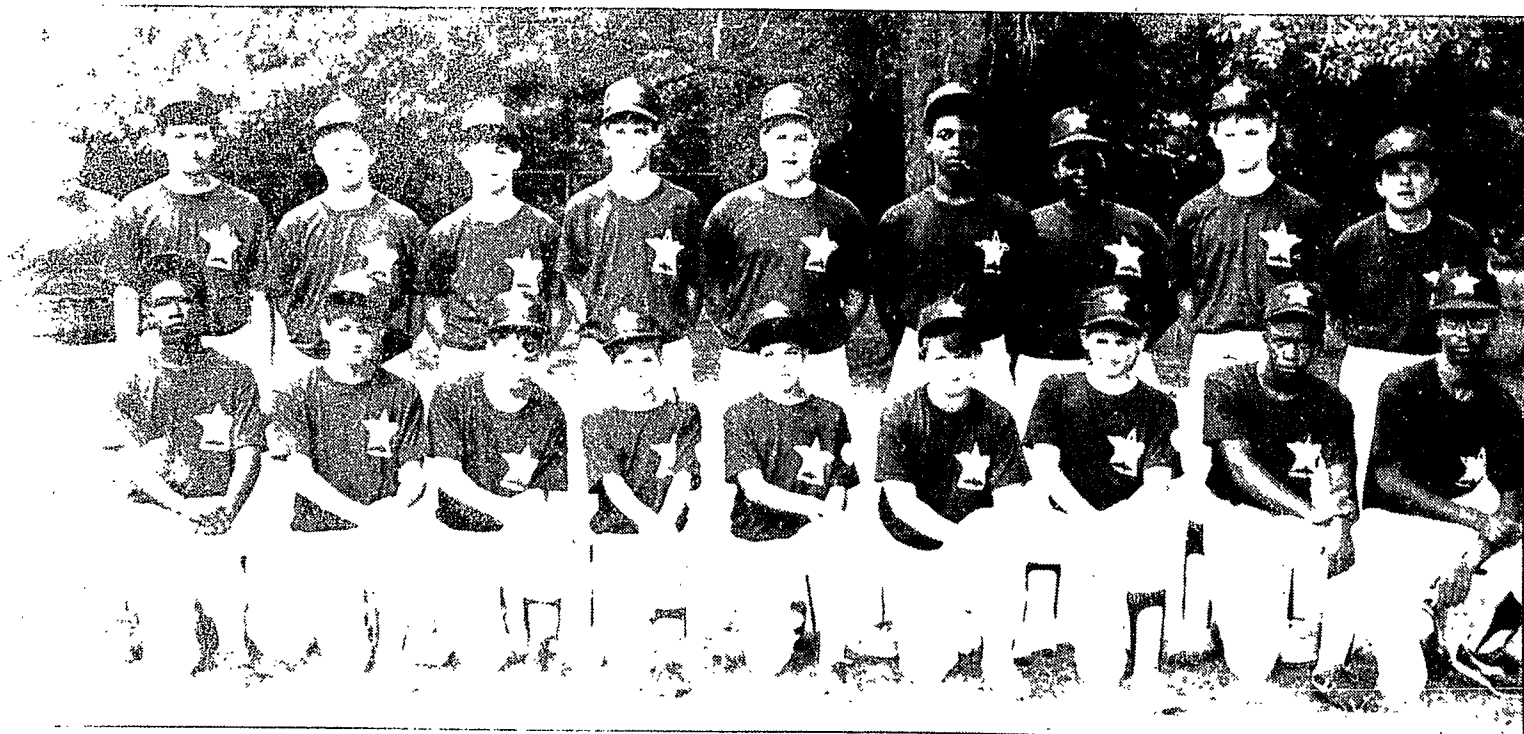

The second game against Bayou View was also a tight ballgame, as Bay St. Louis lost 8-7. The Bay St. Louis squad had tied the score 7-7 going into the sixth inning, but Bayou View scored what eventually became the winning run in the bottom of the sixth.

Bay St. Louis had one final opportunity in the top of the last inning with runners on second and third base but could not bring them home safely. Orange Grove won the tour-namment by defeating Bayou View 13-2.

"We only had one 15 year old player on our team. The rest of our team was made up of all 14-year old players. Our team played hard and we had a good team effort," said coach Jay Artigues.

Pass sailors to race in Sears Championship

Five junior sailors from the Pass Christian Yacht Club will race in the United States Yacht Racing Association's National Sears Championship competition in Balboa, California August 20-24.

The Gulf Yachting Association advanced five teams to the USYRU Area D semi-finals as a result of the winners of the quarter finals for the Sears-Bemis-Smythe competition, held at Pensacola Yacht Club on June 16 and 17.

Manning Montagnet of the Pass Christian Yacht Club won the quarter finals for the Sears competition with five first places and Charlie Merrigan of Bay-Waveland Yacht Club came in second.

In the Bemis competition, PCYC's Kevin Northrop took first place with four firsts and one second and Southern Yacht Club's John Rawlins came in second.

Charles Meade of SYC took the Smythe competition with five first places.

The USYRU Area D semi-finals were sailed at Fairhope Yacht Club on July 14 and 15.

The PCYC team consisting of skipper Manning Montagnet and his crew, Gerard Ballanco and Owen Peneguy, won the Sears with three firsts and two seconds. In addition, the team received the "Ship Shape" award for taking the best care of the chartered boats before, during and after each race in the round-robin series.

St. Petersburg Yacht Club's Mark Mendleblatt and Chad Shakespeare came in second and third, respectively.

In the Bemis competition, SYC's John Rawlins and crew John Alden Meade won the race with FSA's Mark Ingraham in second. PCYC's Kevin Northrop and crew Robert Prince came in third.

St. Pete's Brett Davis dominated the Smythe competition with five first places. SYC's Charles Meade came in second.

The Area D winning teams advance to the USYRU/Rolex Junior Sailing Championships at the Newport Harbor Yacht Club in Balboa, California from August 18-25.

They will compete against the best juniors from the other nine USYRU areas for a spot on the prestigious USYRU/Rolex Junior Sailing Team. The winners of the Junior and Youth Championships plus Sportsmanship Award winners and three others chosen by USYRU will be named to the team.

In California, the Bemis sailors will change from sailing 420's to Flying Juniors. The Smythe competitors will again be sailing Lasers.

The Sears will change from Flying Scots to Etchell 22's, a two-ton fixed keel boat which is popular on the East and West coasts.

For the finals, the boat will require a four-man crew. Montagnet's crew for the finals will be Gerard Ballanco, Owen Peneguy, Nicholas Walker and alternate, Alan Arnold. Montagnet, Peneguy and Walker attend St. Stanislaus High School, while Ballanco attends Brother Martin and Arnold, Newman High School in New Orleans.

An extensive training program to familiarize the PCYC team with the Etchell 22's began Tuesday, July 24 in Sarasota, Florida.

In mid-August, the PCYC team will depart for San Diego to practice in the light summer breezes and the ocean currents that will provide a variety of challenges for Gulf sailors.

On August 17, they will arrive in Balboa and register for the event at the Newport Harbor Yacht Club with a clinic and practice race scheduled for August 18 and 19.

Competitive racing will begin on Monday, August 20 and continue through Friday, August 24. The team will sail a ten-race round-robin series.

Trophy presentation to the USYRU/Rolex Junior Sailing Team will take place on Saturday, August 25.

Anyone interested in supporting the National Championship effort of the 1990 Gulf Yachting Association's Sears representative may send a contribution in care of the PCYC Sears team to P.O. Box 341, Pass Christian, MS 39571.

Manning Montagnet, Owen Peneguy and Gerard Ballanco.

Ladner earns Quarter Horse Association scholarship

Bay St. Louis resident Kinta Ladner is one of 45 American Quarter Horse Association members receiving new scholarships from the AQHA Scholarship Fund.

The number of 1990 recipients more than doubled last year's figure of 20 new scholarship winners. Additionally, 57 students will have their scholarships renewed for the upcoming year.

Following her graduation from Bay High School, Ladner has a career goal of becoming a certified public accountant. The 17-year-old daughter of Milton and Sharon Ladner was active in varsity sports, but devoted a large part of her time to the Mississippi Junior Quarter Horse Association. She held the offices of reporter, corresponding secretary and recording secretary for the organization.

Ladner also placed in the finals of the AQHA World Championship Show in 1984, 1985 and 1986. She also held membership in the South Mississippi Horse Show and Rodeo Association and 4-H.

AJQHA scholarships are awarded to students who graduate in the upper 20 percent of their class or were ranked in the top 20 percent on a national college entrance exam.

Recipients also must contribute to the growth and betterment of AQHA and the American Quarter Horse Association.

Extracurricular activities, such as 4-H or National FFA Organization, personal recommendations and financial need also are taken into consideration.

Individuals must apply for the scholarships before reaching the age of 21, and those currently enrolled in college must maintain a grade point average of 2.5 or higher.

Each new recipient received $500 during the first year and that amount plus an additional $100 for each consecutive year thereafter, through four years of education.

Funding for the scholarship comes through tax-deductible contributions to the program and its overseeing organization, the American Quarter Horse Foundation.

During the AQHA Scholarship Program's 13-year history, 294 students have received $365,016. Anyone wishing to make a donation to the fund should send their tax-deductible checks to the American Quarter Horse Foundation and specify it be used for the AQHA Scholarship Program.

MIRANDA SMITH, a member of the Bay High cheerleading squad, recently attended the Elite Cheerleading Camp at Perkinson, where she was selected as a "Star Cheerleader." She is the daughter of James and Alison Smith.

Luke Weems kept the Biloxi batters off balance, and Heitzmann struck out the last three hitters to secure the victory.

This win, combined with an earlier 2-1 win over Biloxi on July 18, gave the Bay St. Louis squad the South District Area C Championship.

In the 2-1 win, Wali Shabazz was the winning pitcher, giving up two hits and recording 10 strikeouts.

"We've been together practicing for three weeks. The boys have all worked hard and have believed in themselves. Biloxi has always been a tough team to beat. I am proud of the effort that our boys have given," said Coach Tim Bourgeois.

THE SEA COAST ECHO—THURSDAY, JULY 26, 1990-1C

Art students' mural depicts BHS activities

BY JANET MCQUEEN

A 4' x 6' tile mosaic designed and constructed by art students at Bay High School is on display this month at the main branch of the City-County Library in Bay St. Louis.

Elizabeth Veglia of Long Beach was directing artist of the project, which was conducted by Joida Evans, Bay High art instructor.

A grant from Mississippi Power Company provided funding for the mosaic, which will hang permanently in the fine arts wing of the high school.

Private donations of materials were secured for the construction.

Upperclassmen at Bay High worked on the mosaic for approximately six weeks.

The Tiger mascot serves as a focal point for the intricate work, which depicts an array of school activities and studies.

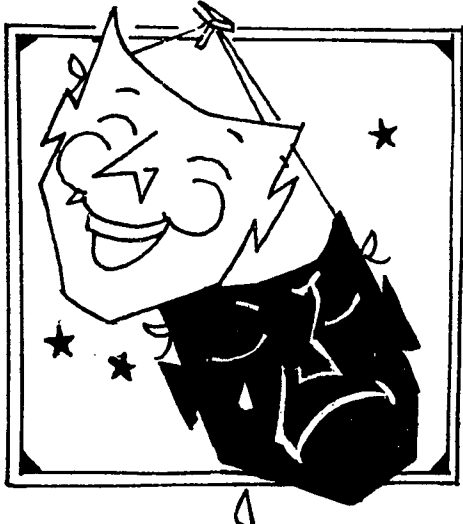

Featured elements are a marching band, various sports, mathematical equations and a little wishful thinking—a red Ferrari driver's education car.

Among students who worked on the project were Mark Blackledge, Nathan Reed, Kim Hess, Michele Pearson, Nekiel Curry; Jamie Geisel, Aimee Arnold, Heather Melver, Missy Favre, Mark LaFontaine, Rene Bermond, Cory Oliver, Celeste Gardache;

Sherry Yarborough, Ronald Thompson, LaShawn Hawkins, Susan Garcia, Jeff Cranmer, Willie, Karen Arnold; Steve Fountain, Josette Devilliers, Heddi Peterson, Crystal Burge, Billy Tell, Brent Sutton, Joey Thompson;

Scott Lewis, Carlina Vaughn, Kasi Henderson, Aimee Harville, and Andy Kimbrell.

Bay theatre workshop for children culminates in presentation of plays

Bay St. Louis Little Theatre announces production dates for four one-act plays that will bring to a close their Summer '90 Theatre Workshop for Youth.

Theatre board president Carol Young said, "Community theatre means just that. It belongs to the community, and we want to see everyone have the chance to be involved, including our young people."

"They have so much to offer, and in return the rewards to them are many, including new friendships, improved confidence and the satisfaction of a job well done."

For the second year the workshop was under the direction of Marie Bernard. She was assisted by Betty Ladner and Sherrie Ladner. Workshops included theatre history and terms, stage presence, makeup and costumes and a three-part technical workshop on lighting by John Holmes.

Student participants include Christine Benvenuti, Michael Benvenuti, Casey Lynn Bernard, Cecile Bilbo, Lindy L'Enfant, Jared Freeman, Amie Geary, Todd Geary;

Dana Hamilton, Lauren Hansell, Randy Hartwell, Kellie Jo Hille, Alan Jensen, Renee Jensen, Gin Johnson, Emilie Magnon;

Student participants have been involved in all phases of production: set preparation and "dressing," props, makeup, costuming, directing, and even writing the script for "The Tea Service" which featured remembrances by "grownup" grandchildren of a grandmother.

On Friday and Saturday, July 27 and 28 two plays will be presented. "Boy Meets Family" is a 1938 farce written by Allan Rieser, and "Happily Never After," a play written by Tim Kelly that looks at the "problems" many favorite story book characters such as Cinderella and Sleeping Beauty experience.

On Friday and Saturday of the following weekend, Aug. 3 and 4, "The Tea Service" will share the bill with another Tim Kelly play, "It's Big Foot!"

Curtain time is 8 p.m. Admission for adults is $3 and $1.50 for children under 12.

Preparing for the Bay St. Louis Little Theatre youth presentations are, clockwise from upper right, Christine Benvenuti, Michael Benvenuti and Keyes Stahl; Cecile Bilbo, Casey Lynn Bernard and Pepper Uhles; Jason Sick, Kellie Jo Hille and Tabithia Wilkinson; and Margaret Welz and Lorien Stahl.

Bay native photographs Jamaica for National Guard

Louisiana Army National Guard Specialist Kristi L. Moon, 1986 graduate of Bay Senior High School, worked in Jamaica to document U.S. efforts to rebuild portions of the country after Hurricane Gilbert blew through in 1988.

Moon, production controller for the Army Aviation Support Facility at the Lakefront Airport in New Orleans, is assigned to the 241st Public Affairs Detachment as a photojournalist.

The five-member public affairs team was in Jamaica in late June to support the 120th Engineers from Okmulgee, Okla. The mission of the team was to produce a video documentary and create still photographs for the National Guard Bureau in Washington, D.C.

The video included footage of construction undertaken by the 120th Engineers on basic school houses, churches and clinics located in small inland towns.

Said Moon, "The native children peeled sugar cane and sliced holes in coconuts for us to drink the milk, as tokens of their appreciation and friendliness."

Prior to this assignment, Moon also used her photojournalism skills with the Louisiana National Guard in West Germany, during the Return of Forces to Germany exercise.

"The experience gained from these overseas missions is sure to prove invaluable as I pursue my journalism education at the University of New Orleans this fall," stated Moon.

Rebuilding Jamaica

Bay St. Louis native Specialist Kristi L. Moon plays with a native Jamaican child while Oklahoma National Guard rebuild a nearby basic school. Moon was in Jamaica as part of a U.S. Army public affairs team documenting U.S. efforts to rebuild parts of Jamaica destroyed during Hurricane Gilbert.
